

Bruce Lockhart
President

Mr. Lockhart has been an employee of Ceradyne since September 2001 as President of the Thermo Materials division and he was appointed a Vice President of Ceradyne in February 2003. His responsibility has expanded substantially over the past two years with the acquisition of Minco, Inc. in July 2007 and the expansion of Ceradyne operations in China that same year, where we manufacture ceramic crucibles. Both the Minco and China operations are part of the Ceradyne Thermo Materials operating segment.

Prior to joining Ceradyne, Mr. Lockhart had sixteen years of varied experience in the ceramic industry, the majority of which was with Thermal Ceramics Inc., a provider of products for engineered heat management solutions. Mr. Lockhart received a B.S. in Ceramic Engineering from Clemson University in 1985 and a M.B.A. from Clemson University in 1990.
